

Kenosha's Best Kept Secret

Meet "Uncle" Howard Brown

Howard's tennis racket is his only racket. . .

FOR MORE than 40 years, Howard J. Brown, president of the Kenosha News, has maintained a low profile, but strongly supportive role in community developments that impact the vitality and future of Kenosha. He has been a guiding force in the growth and mission of the Greater Kenosha Area Foundation and there are few in the business community who do not know of his favorite philanthropic project, the annual Goodfellows Charity dinner every December.

There's still another side of Howard that many Kenoshans never see. That's his real love for wearing white, not his traditional dark three-piece suits. And he'll even admit to a preference for the rigors on the tennis court over those of a boardroom discussion.

The Greater Kenosha Area Foundation, like Howard's love of tennis, one of Kenosha's best kept secrets, is committed to the community.
